Hi,

Frauditor Troll here, I wanted to invite you to an interview during one of our livestreams. We recently had an interview with Rogue Nation and you can check it out here:

As you can see the purpose of the interview is just to have a discussion about the 1st amendment auditor movement in general.

Let me know if you would be interested.

Best Regards,

Hey,

Are you interested in participating in an interview during a livestream?

We recently had 2 interviews with auditors and it went well. It was a good place to debate ideas.

Let me know

3. Livestream and Transcript

Frauditor: I got, uh, another request. Can we watch a different one? Let's do that.

DMA: Of course.

Frauditor: While I have you on here, so, let's just address a few things. Cause I, you know, it's rare that we get a chance to talk. We've never spoken, uh, uh, you know, as face to face as it's going to get. So are you serious about the lawsuit? You can't be right. There's no way you are.

DMA: Dude. You know, I don't know. I actually did talk to my attorney about it and, uh, And I just brought it up to him and he said, well, we need to get his last name so we can do a cease and desist. And I was like, OK, that's that's fine. And, you know, I don't know. I haven't really been talking to him about it. So he said, we need to get your last name. And. That's the last I heard. I don't think I'm really going to pursue it. Like you said, you only sold two shirts, and it was me and you. We're the only ones who bought it.

Frauditor: You're better off to ask for a refund, but I don't think I would qualify because you're a satisfied customer.

DMA: Dude, I'm a satisfied customer, man, yeah.

Frauditor: That's awesome. That's going in my intro for sure.

DMA: Yeah, dude, you know what? I kind of lost my ways a little bit because I preach a lot on my spiritual channel that what you resist persists, right? And that fighting for peace is like shouting for silence so. As far as going against you and being like, oh, I'm going to sue you and all that kind of stuff, that's just perpetuating it and making everything worse, I feel like, so I don't have any problem with what you guys do. You guys do your own thing. You guys have your own followers that disagree with what we do, and that's fine. I don't have anything against you guys. You guys do what you do, and I do what I do so.”

to me

Hi Josh!

I had a good time on panel with you the other day. With that said, I won't be joining you for the debate because as your followers say, it would just be for clicks and views and is non conducive for my activism. You already had Rights Crispy and Rogue Nation up there so we're beating a dead horse at this point. Debating you and your viewers has no benefit to me or my mission. I hope you understand and have a good week!

Best regards,
DMA
